I think the government should get off Microsoft's back. This could have been one of the major contributors to the economy slow down. The only thing they are guilty of is running an outstanding company. They shouldn't be penalized for being good at what they do. The government should spend this time routing out waste in government spending, if it's looking for a real crime. Perhaps with a comprehensive look at the crime of government employee malingering, extravagant retirements, wages, benefits programs and job protections policies, you would better spend your time.
